TO: City of Ann Arbor

FROM: Dustin Olson & Sean Bartley, Pollsters

DATE: September 15, 2023

SUBJECT: Strategic Insights from the Ann Arbor Energy Future Survey

"That we don't lose energy and I don't want our property tax to pay for it"

Retired Caucasian Female, 70+, Who Is A High School Grad,
 And Generally Supportive of the 2030 Goal

OVERVIEW

This survey aimed to capture the energy-related values and priorities of Ann Arbor residents. It not only tested various message points but also gauged public awareness of the City's renewable energy initiatives. The data collected serves as a valuable asset for shaping the City's future energy choices. The memo below outlines five essential strategic insights.

Conducted from August 28 to September 5, 2023, the survey collected 412 interviews and achieved a Margin of Error of +/- 4.8% at a 95% Confidence Level. This offers a statistically significant and comprehensive snapshot of Ann Arbor residents' viewpoints on energy-related matters.

METHODOLOGY

Our approach employed a multimodal methodology, comprising:

• Live Telephone Interviews: 53.8% of responses

Online Panel: 23.5% of responses

Text-to-Web: 22.7% of responses

This multimodal approach achieved a 91% accuracy rate for our firm in 2022 and in this survey, enabled us to secure high-quality, representative responses for a diverse sample.

The sample has been minimally weighted by Gender, Age, Ethnicity/Race, and Zipcode to reflect an accurate demographic composition of Ann Arbor.

THE BIG PICTURE

Following are the Big Picture strategic insights we gleaned from this survey.

STRATEGIC INSIGHT #1:

Resilience, Reliability, & Cost Are Paramount

Respondents make their priorities clear, emphasizing resilience, reliability, and cost.

Particularly noteworthy is that resilience ranks highest among all demographics, as indicated by 66% of respondents prioritizing this characteristic across all question types.

Resilience

- 'Resilience' is #1 with every demographic.
- 66% selected 'Resilience' in response to "Q12: What are your Top 3 Energy-Related Priorities?"

 'Being able to withstand a storm' was the #1 answer to the open ended "Q13: Which is Most Important Characteristic in Your Energy System?"

Reliability

- Overall, Reliability is the #2 priority among residents.
- 48.6% selected Reliability in response to Question 12: "What are your Top 3 Energy-Related Priorities?"
- 'Being able to withstand routine disturbances' was the #2 answer to the open-ended Question 13: "Which is Most Important Characteristic in Your Energy System?"

Cost

- Overall, Cost or energy affordability is a close #3 among resident concerns.
- 48% selected Cost & Affordability in response to Question 12: "What are your Top 3 Energy-Related Priorities?"
- Cost & Affordability were the #3 most popular answer to the open-ended Question 13:
   "Which is Most Important Characteristic in Your Energy System?"
- Cost is the #2 priority with low-income, non-whites, and those under 40
  - Those making under $75k:
    - Top 3 Concerns
      - Resilience 56.3%
      - Cost 50.3%
      - Reliability 42.6%
  - Non-white population:
    - Top 3 Concerns
      - Resilience 64.0%
      - Cost 50.8%
      - Reliability 43.9%
  - Those Under 40:
    - Top 3 Concerns
      - Resilience 66.4%
      - Cost 51.8%
      - Reliability 49.8%

Top 3 Priorities

STRATEGIC INSIGHT #2:

There is High Public Awareness of the 100% Renewable Energy Goal

A robust 75.5% of respondents are aware of Ann Arbor's goal to transition to 100% renewable energy.

Only 6% reported having no knowledge of this initiative.

30.2% said they had heard "A lot" about it.

STRATEGIC INSIGHT #3:

Residents Generally Support 2030 Goal

"As soon as possible. 2030 feels aggressively achievable."

— Caucasian Male, 30-39, with a Bachelor's Degree,

Answer to #3 who says his #1 priority is Transition to Renewables

Residents generally support the goal to achieve 100% Renewable Energy by 2030.

Before being given a timeline or reminded of the 2030 goal, nearly 60% of respondents favored achieving 100% renewable energy by 2030 or earlier.

- 59.8% desire 100% renewable energy by 2030 or earlier
- 62.6% find achieving the 2030 goal important

When asked specifically about the 2030 goal, 62.6% of respondents said it was important to achieve with ½ saying it was 'Extremely Important'.

STRATEGIC INSIGHT #4:

Consensus on All Criteria, But Intensity Favors Three

A majority of respondents consider all potential energy options important, with resilience, reliability, and cost rated the highest. However, what we look for is "intensity," which we define as the percentage of respondents who categorize an option as "very important."

We consider anything over 40% to indicate higher levels of intensity, suggesting more decisiveness on the issue or a stronger emotional attachment.

Below are the options that garnered an intensity level above 40%. Indeed, nearly half of all respondents actually determined each of these to be "Very Important."

- 1. Resilience (Question 10):
  - 86.1% Total Important
  - o 63.9% Very Important
- 2. Reliability (Question 7):
  - o 85.2% Total Important
  - o 59.1% Very Important
- 3. Cost (Question 8):
  - o 72.5% Total Important
  - 47.1% Very Important

This emphasis on intensity helps us understand not just what issues are important to respondents, but also how passionately they feel about these issues.

STRATEGIC INSIGHT #5:

Ignore Cost & Affordability at Your Own Peril

"Just keep it affordable — the cost of living is quite high in the city."

African-American Male, 40-49, who makes over $150k,
 Answer to #14 who says his #1 priority is Resilience

Ignoring concerns about cost and affordability is not an option with residents.

Our data indicate that, especially for low-income groups, cost is a major concern, almost equalling that of resilience and reliability:

 The Prioritization Question Series (Questions 12, 13, and 14) at the end of the survey shows cost is just as important or more important than reliability and even rivals resilience among some demographic groups.

It is important to note that adding Question 14 to see if people had any additional considerations about achieving the 100% renewable goal was extremely valuable. The verbatim responses—residents in their own words—also revealed cost as a bigger concern:

 There is an undercurrent of respondents looking for and suggesting some kind of assistance for themselves or others to move to renewable energy sources—a form of incentive-based renewable energy adoption.

WHAT RESIDENTS ARE SAYING IN THEIR OWN WORDS

We took the opportunity to ask several Open-Ended Questions and record voters' Verbatim Responses to better understand their key concerns, priorities, and opinions.

Some common threads appeared. Below are some representative examples of the direct quote responses we received from open-ended Questions 13 and 14:

- Q13. Of the Ann Arbor energy priorities covered, which is the most important to you?
- Q14. Is there anything else you think Ann Arbor should consider as it works to achieve 100% renewable energy for the entire community?

Categories of Responses:

Maintaining power during and after an extreme event: (66.0%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "Power remains after big events"
- "Pushing toward responsive with weather related events when the power goes out"
- "Anything related to resiliency would be my priority"

Improving reliability during routine disturbances: (48.6%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "Allowing for continued power during disturbances"
- "Stable power access"
- "The outages are bad so just having power"

Ensuring energy costs are at least the same cost as today: (48.0%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "I think keeping costs low, or the same as what we pay now"
- "Everything making sure people can afford energy"
- "I hope that we still have the same cost"

Transitioning to renewables by 2030: (36.3%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "Climate responsible and no more cost than today"
- "Converting to renewables ASAP"
- "Achieving the goal"

Community-owned Energy System: (23.2%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "Kill DTE. Power ought to be municipalized. Stop adding useless private profits to public goods."
- "Community owned, affordable, and adding to renewable sources"
- "Having the city control the power source"

Investing in new renewable energy projects that wouldn't happen without City involvement: (19.6%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

"Ann Arbor having its own energy source."

Michigan-based Energy: (16.9%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "Keeping the energy clean and sourced in Michigan"
- "Using Michigan based resources!"

Implementing solutions that can be replicated by other communities: (15.2%)

Direct Quotes As They Said It:

- "Replicated by other communities"
- "Being a model for other communities"

BOTTOMLINE

The survey reveals that while Ann Arbor residents are generally supportive of the City's 2030 renewable energy goal, they place a high priority on resilience, reliability, and cost. Tailoring communication to various demographic groups, especially those prioritizing cost, will be crucial in continuing to build community engagement and support for renewable initiatives.
