INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

In 2003, residents of Ann Arbor overwhelmingly approved the Open Space and Parkland Preservation Millage, also known as the Greenbelt Millage, which authorized a 30-year, 0.5 mil tax levy to provide funds for the preservation and protection of open space, natural habitats, agricultural lands, and the City's source waters outside of City limits, and the purchase of parkland within City limits.

As delineated in City Council Resolution 377-9-03, one-third of the millage revenue is dedicated for parkland acquisition within the City, and two-thirds of millage revenue is dedicated for land preservation within the Greenbelt District outside the City (Figure 2). Chapter 42 \(Open Space and Parkland Preservation Ordinance\) of the City Code provides the parameters for the use of Open Space and Parkland Preservation Millage funds. Chapter 42 establishes the Greenbelt Advisory Commission, charged with making recommendations to City Council on the use of Open Space and Parkland Preservation Millage funds within the Greenbelt District, known as the City's Ann Arbor Greenbelt Program. Within the City limits, the Parks Advisory Commission is tasked with making recommendations to City Council on the use of those millage funds for parkland acquisitions, overseen by the City's Parks and Recreation Department.

The Open Space and Parkland Preservation Program just completed its nineteenth year and has made great strides in achieving the goals set out at the passage of the millage. As of June 30, 2022, the program has acquired 172.24 acres of parklands. These additions to the parks system provide critical linkages between and increase access to existing parks, protect high quality natural features remaining in the City, and increase the viability of the overall park system for Ann Arbor residents. All of these are priorities for acquisition listed in the City's Parks and Recreation Open Space (PROS) Plan. During fiscal year 2022, the City acquired an additional 4.109 acres of parkland.

Within the Greenbelt District, the millage has helped to protect over 6,384.77 acres of working farmland and open space. Protecting farmland and natural areas provides many benefits to Ann Arbor residents by protecting the scenic rural vistas of the area, supporting the local agricultural economy, and protecting land within the watershed of the Huron River. During fiscal year 2022, the millage protected an additional 445.08 acres of open space in the Greenbelt District.

GREENBELT

STRATEGIC PLAN

As directed in the Greenbelt's Strategic Plan, which was originally adopted in 2005 and most recently updated in 2019, the Greenbelt Program seeks to:

1. Preserve: Preserve the highest quality lands with parcel-level prioritization.
2. Educate: Build awareness of Greenbelt Program impacts and priorities throughout Ann Arbor and the surrounding communities.
3. Collaborate: Actively participate in authentic cross-sector regional conservation collaboration.
4. Align: Align Greenbelt acquisitions with water, climate, and health equity goals.

The Greenbelt Advisory Commission utilizes a multivariate parcel-level prioritization (Figure 2), paired with a scoring system for evaluating applications, to inform their recommendations on prospective acquisitions. Most of the acquisitions are completed in collaboration with local, state, and federal agencies and other nonprofit organizations.

The 2019 Greenbelt strategic plan update is available online here.

LEVERAGING FUNDS

The Greenbelt spent $1,167,560 on the purchase price of projects this fiscal year. Local partners matched that with $1,753,789, and grants totaled $2,597,702. This means 78.8% of the purchase price for projects completed this fiscal year were non-City funds.

AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION EASEMENT PROGRAM (ACEP)

USDA-NRCS's Agricultural Conservation Easement Program (ACEP) grants are state-competitive federal grants can provide up to 50% of a conservation easement's purchase price. In most fiscal years, the City submits at least two ACEP grant applications. However, in 2021 and 2022, more RCPP grants were available, which negated the necessity for ACEP.

REGIONAL CONSERVATION PARTNERSHIP PROGRAM (RCPP)

USDA-NRCS's Regional Conservation Partnership Program (RCPP) grants can provide up to 50% of a conservation easement's purchase price, as well as other conservation funding. These grants are applied to as a multi-year agreement to fund easements on a certain number of acres. Once the RCPP is secured, each easement "grant" within the RCPP is guaranteed, without state competition. In fiscal year 2021, the City led a new application for RCPP funding. The City's application was successful, securing the third largest award in the nation that year, totaling $7.4M in NRCS grant funding matched by over $8.5M in local funding to establish the $15.9M "Lake Erie Conservation Partnership" that aims to protect over 1,600 acres over 5 years. The City and its partners continue to work with RCPP to deploy these funds.

LOCAL PARTNERS

The Greenbelt partnered with Lodi Township, Scio Township, and Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission for transactions completed this fiscal year.

STEWARDSHIP FUNDS

For each conservation easement, approximately $24,000 are set aside in a separate endowment fund. Since conservation easements are required to be monitored annually in perpetuity, these endowment funds are used to cover the monitoring costs, in addition to funding any potential costs to enforce easement terms and respond to easement violations in the future. As of June 30, 2022, the balance in the Greenbelt's endowment fund was $967,152.

FISCAL YEAR 2022 ACQUISITIONS

Since the inception of the Greenbelt Program, the Ann Arbor area has witnessed significant changes in the local economy and real estate market, namely the Great Recession and the more recent COVID-19 induced spike in housing demand. The Great Recession in 2008 resulted in fewer developers buying land in the area, an increase in number of properties on the market, longer property sale times, and a decrease in real estate sale prices. Since then, the residential real estate market has recovered, especially within Ann Arbor city limits. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, demand for housing soared in later 2020 and continued into 2021. According to the Ann Arbor Area Board of Realtors, average home sale prices in the Ann Arbor area increased to over $380,000 for 2021, up from about $340,000 for 2020, and a low of around $173,000 in 2008.<sup>1</sup>

Similar to the residential real estate market, values for conservation easements acquired by the Greenbelt also decreased after 2007 from average per acre value of more than $16,000 in fiscal year 2006 to a low of about $2,700 in fiscal year 2014 (Figure 3). The average has been trending upward since then, but with greater variability in change from year to year due to a much lower sample size. The COVID-19 housing demand may have had a less significant effect on easement prices in rural areas than it did on residential housing prices. However, fiscal year 2021 saw the closing of a property with the highest price per acre in the Greenbelt's history, at $29,548/acre. This property was expensive largely because it was zoned industrial, which most if not all Greenbelt properties were zoned at a less intense use, usually agricultural zoning or rural residential. When examined together with all price per acre data points, even prior to the Great Recession, this $29,548 data point is an extreme statistical outlier (greater than 3 times the IQ). Incorporating it into the average price per acre for FY21 does not produce an outlying average, but the average produced ($11,861.26) suggests a several thousand hike in conservation easement values from 2020 ($7,859) that is not supported by other active Greenbelt appraisals. Time will tell if this property reflects a true overall easement cost trend, or if it was a unique property.

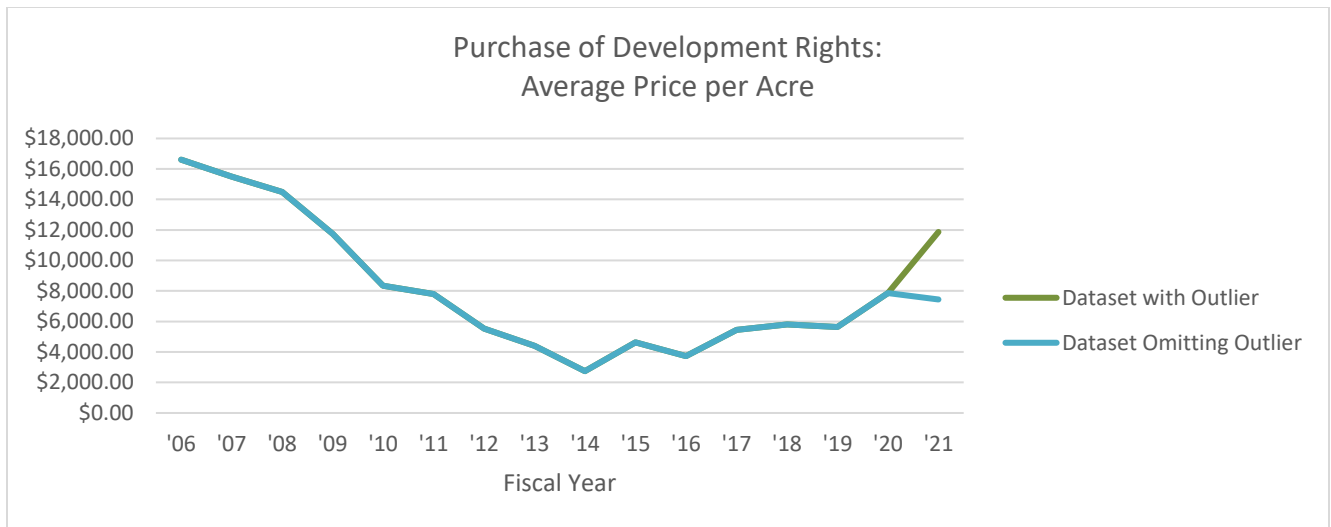

Figure 3. Average appraised values of purchase of development rights easements for the Greenbelt Program, by years project closed (not appraisal year), fiscal years 2006 – 20210

As of June 30, 2022, the Greenbelt Program has helped to protect 6,829.23 acres of working farms and natural areas (Figure 4). The cumulative before-easement fair market value of these properties is over $82.9 million, of which the City taxes have only contributed $26.3 million to see through to preservation. More than $34.5 million are matching funds, secured through collaboration with other organizations and local, state, and federal agencies. For some transactions, the landowners themselves contributed a portion of the purchase price by selling the development rights at bargain sale prices.

During fiscal year 2022 the Greenbelt Program completed six acquisitions, protecting a total of 445.08 acres of natural areas and working farmland. Three of these six had been identified as parcel priorities by the strategic plan.

- City-led Acquisitions: The Greenbelt Program purchased two conservation easements in fiscal year 2022:
  1. Stone: 29.72-acre conservation easement acquisition in Lodi Township. Adjacent to Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission’s 150-acre Lambarth easement. WCPARC and Lodi Township contributed funds to this project. Half of this property is actively farmed, while the other half is a healthy forest
  2. Russell: 151-acre conservation easement in Lodi Township. This property added to a contiguous protected block made of the Rogers, Schumacher, and Guenther West easements, with the four together totaling

- Partner-led Acquisitions: The Greenbelt Program provided funding to four partner-led acquisitions in fiscal year 2022:
  1. Andres E: This property, along with its sister property Andres W, were the first buy-protect-sell projects led by a local government in Washtenaw County. Scio Township led these projects. Andres E is 80.746 acres.
  2. Andres W: A 78.176-acre buy-protect-sell easement led by Scio Township
  3. Rouse: The Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission led a most 4.076-acre fee simple expansion of their Kidder-McKeachie Scio Woods Preserve.
  4. Renz: The Renz property, a 101.361-acre farm, was Scio Township's next buy-protect-sell project following the success of the Andres properties.

PARKLAND

STRATEGIC PLAN

Ann Arbor's Parks and Recreation Open Space (PROS) Plan lists the following criteria for evaluating future parkland acquisitions. Please refer to the PROS Plan for more details on each criterion.

1. City-wide System Balance / Geographic Distribution as well as Open Space Convenient to Each Neighborhood
2. Natural Resource Protection
3. Open Space and Green Space Imagery/Aesthetics
4. Enhance Access and Linkage

5. Protection of the Huron River, Watersheds, and Water Quality
6. Recreation Value and Suitability for Intended Use
7. Method of Acquisition/Direct Costs
8. Provides for Future Needs/Anticipates Growth
9. Long-Term Development and Maintenance Costs

The City’s PROS Plan is available online here.

FISCAL YEAR 2022 ACQUISITIONS

The City of Ann Arbor completed two parkland acquisitions in fiscal year 2022, totaling 4.109 acres of parkland added to the City:

1. St. Joseph Mercy Health System: The City acquired fee title to 0.339 acres for a new park at the corner of Dexter Ave and Seybold Dr, next to the City of Ann Arbor Housing Commission’s West Arbor affordable housing development.
2. Malletts 2 LLC: This fee purchase added 3.77 acres of natural area to Mary Beth Doyle Park.
